As often as New York will let him Mr. Hackett gets away to shed his splender among those of us in the "provinces" who hunger and thirst after good acting. Edmond Hayes, the comedian of original ideas and poculiar methods who is creating bilarity at the Orpheum this week in his satire upon the much abused working man under the caption of "The Plano Movers," is the originator of that well remembered and most popular character "The Wise Guy." He also will be remembered as the big favorite at the old Lyceum on Second South nearly twenty years ago when he used to play heavy pieces and be the matines idol of the town. His present vehicle is along distinctly different lines and is in its way, a povelty in the direction of securing laughter loud and long. The bill throughout this week is one that will appeal to ull sorts and conditions of amusement seekers.

The complete production of the Vienness operetta. The Rose of Panama, from Daly's theater. New York, will be brought to the Sait Lake theater Monday evening, where it comes for an engagement with Chapine, the little French prima donna who scored a distinct triumph in the principal role during the run of the opera on Broadway last season.

As a writer of songs and musical show numbers, there a few better known and more popular young men today than Joseph E. Howard, who will appear here on Friday night, in "The Goddess of Liberty," at the Sait Lake theater. No less successful as a comedian and singer than a componer is Mr. Howard—he is a born entertainer.

It is doubtful if in any production at the Colonial this season, as splendid an exhibition of gowins has been seen among the women of the Mack-Rambeau company as is this week in evidence at the Colonial in Mr. Mack's production at that house of "The Strength of the Weak". The play is easily the most elaborately mounted production of the year at the Colonial and Miss Rambeau has already

THE SACRAMENT

Logan Man Invents Sanitary Device Officially Adopted by Mormon Church.

A new Utah product-an automatic sac ament service-invented by Jacob Shaub of Logan, has been officially adopted for use in the Mormon church. The device s manufactured in this state. The incentor says that several other church enominations will no doubt adopt it for use in communion service.

The sacrament service is being displayed at the Descret Sunday School Union book store on East South Temple. It consists of a filling device, holding 144 individual cups and serving trays with places for thirty-six cups in each. The filling device is arranged so that the entire 144 cups may be filled with wine or water at one dip into a tank. They can then be lifted automatically to the serving tray without a cup being handled before it reaches the worshiper.

Mr. Shaup says he expects the Mormon church to use at least 300 sets. Pastors of several other churches in this city including Temple B'nai Israel have expressed interest in the service. The sacrament service is being displayed
